Gajah Gallery Yogyakarta to emerging Indonesian Artists in Group Visual Exhibition 'KNOWING INCOMPLETENESS'.

'Knowing Incompleteness' can be understood literally or philosophically. From a philosophical perspective, the theme represents the ever-present yet enigmatic 'gap' which exists between the work and its reality – this enigma in itself is interesting enough to explore, observe and experience.

'Incompleteness' stresses a conviction within a reality of the postmodern paradigm: never whole, or finished, but rather always unfinished, absent, fragmented, inadequate, or sparse – in the way that a piece of art reminds you of an ongoing process. As such, 'Incompleteness' encompasses both impossibility and positivity.

The exhibition 'KNOWING INCOMPLETENESS' features 7 contemporary Yogyakarta-based artists from Sakato Art Community, as they explore the philosophical realm of 'Incompleteness'. The works of these artists show a common tendency towards the mysterious state of the incomplete within the discourse of the object, subject and space. They visualize the impossibility of reality attempting to fulfill itself: the enigmatic gap is always present, serving as an empty space to be filled with its interaction with the audience and their relations to each other within the conceptual premise of the works. In the midst of an ever-fragmented culture, the works reveal the incomplete nature of reality.
